Two men and the pretty Penelope Piper (Penny) arrive. One man says he is a peddler while the other is a gambler. Penny says she is a widow from Boston who has never been west. After she arrives, what's in the letters starts to come true starting with the sheriff! He is apparently shot by accident with his own gun by Penny who is holding it to look at the notches carved on it. A second man dies when his horse goes over a cliff with a second man and Penny involved. Cheyenne believes she is the ...

'A bad penny always turns up' - meaning and origin.

A bad penny is a person or sometimes a thing that is unwelcome, someone or something that appears recurringly, seemingly because fate is taunting you. The presence of a bad penny is a personal vexation. The term bad penny is part of the proverb a bad penny always turns up. As often happens, the latter part of the proverb is usually dropped with the assumption that the proverb is so well known, the listener will fill in the ending. The proverb is derived from the occurence of actual ...
